

Can't rule out fashion

Colleges in aapnu Amdavad are basking in the glory of culfests and techfests. There's plenty of innovation to see and college-goers are making the most of it. Your diarist was at the IIT-Gn campus where Techno Aspire, a tech-fest organised by students is going on. While there are robot puzzles, robot races and other 'non-technical' events including cricket and tug of war that are livening up the place, a couple of students walking past a stand-alone stall selling fashion garments and accessories were left 'stumped'. Heading towards the activity zone, they couldn't help remark and acknowledge the 'influence' fashion has on almost everyone these days. Your diarist saw them giggling and telling one another how fashion has caught up with 'one and all'. True, it's not for those inclined towards arts and culture alone, even those dug up in books need 'a good dose' of it! Want proof? Have a look!
