

IITGn's 'Mentor Conclave' for students today

It is an initiative to connect school students with professionals for exchange of ideas

dna correspondent @dnaahmedabad

Ahmedabad: Over 200 students of Class X and XII will be able to meet professionals and have one-on-one interaction regarding career concerns with experts at an event organised by IIT, Gandhinagar at its campus on Saturday.

Mentor Conclave, a career guidance event will be held to provide an opportunity to students to interact with young inspirational leaders from different walks of life. Students of Kendriya Vidyalayas at CRPF and Cantonment have registered for the event.

Kushagra Bhargava, a fourth year UG student at IITGN, and one of the organisers of the event, said, "As per the re-

“ As per research data, the current education system is backward than expected standard of achievement levels required in the professional world. In order to bridge this gap, children should learn about real-life scenarios and interact with professionals, early in life.”

Kushagra Bhargava, student

search data published by Global Education and Skills Forum, the current education system across the world is backward than the expected standard of achievement levels required in the professional world. In order to bridge this gap, children should learn about real-life scenarios and interact with professionals, early in life.”

Interestingly, the talk sessions by the mentors will be recorded and shared with various schools in rural areas.

The event is organised along with GladEngage, a Kolkata based start-up, founded by an IIT Kharagpur alumnus.