

IITGN prof gets Padma Shri

Ahmedabad: A guest professor of the Indian Institute of Technology Gandhinagar (IITGN) has been awarded Padma Shri by the President of India Pranab Mukherjee on Thursday. Professor Michel Danino, a French-born

Indian citizen, was presented the fourth highest civilian award for his contribution in the field of Literature and Education. "While I feel deeply honored, the award has also evoked in me a stronger feeling of responsibility and commitment to contribute to what I have been pursuing in last 40 years," said Danino.

Title: IIT-Gn Prof gets Padma Shri

Source: DNA (P. 3)

Date: 03/04/2017

IIT-Gn prof receives Padma Shri award

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Ahmedabad: President of India, Pranab Mukherjee, presented Padma Shri award to guest faculty at Indian Institute of Technology, Gandhinagar, (IIT-Gn) Professor Michel Danino at the Civil Investiture Ceremony held at Rashtrapati Bhavan on March 30.

The fourth highest civilian award in India was given to Danino, a French-born Indian citizen, for his contribution towards literature and education. Danino said: "While I feel deeply honoured, the award has also evoked in me a stronger feeling of responsibility and commitment to contributing to what I have been pursuing in the last 40 years."

Danino has been a guest professor at the IIT-Gn since 2011, where he has been teaching courses which give a broad panorama of Indian culture and civilization. He played a key role in establishing the Archaeological Sciences Centre at the IIT-Gn.

Title: IIT-Gn Prof receives Padma Shri Award

Source: Times of India (P. 4)

Date: 03/04/2017